WAKE CRIMINAL COURT

The bill to abolish the Criminal Court of Wake county, was taken up.
Mr. Richardson of Wake, offered an amendment giving the Superior Court as full jurisdiction as it had prior to the formation of the Criminal Court. Mr. Bernard said that he had listened to all the arguments for the bill, but had heard none which convinced him of its propriety. The matter was pushed forward by persons influenced by either pique or jealousy. The county absolutely needs the court, and it is less expensive by some $1,300 per an-num than the old form. Mr. Norment opposed the bill. Mr. Etheridge said the Democrats of Wake, the Magistrates of the county, aid not wish the court abolished. It was a republican attempt to foist a negro solicitor upon the peo-ple of Wake. Mr. Richardson said the county was in debt, that the salaries of the officers were a burden. The people of the county asked the abolition of the court. Mr. Ellison also favored this view. Mr. Colwell said it was strange that the Magistrates had not requested the abolition of the court, but had rather endorsed it, thus evidently thinking it a benefit. He read a statement of the comparative cost of the Superior and Criminal Courts, showing a balance

Mr. Wynne endorsed the statements of Mr. Richardson, as he favored the interests of the Democrats of Wake, who certainly wished the court abolished. The matter was not brought before the Magistrates properly. Mr. Covington opposed the bill, saying that those who favored it did not consult the best interests of the county of Wake. If the Magistrates had desired the court abolished they would have taken some action. There is no court which is to take the place of the Criminal Court if it is abolished. Wake has as many criminals as any county in the State. Now she pays for their trials, but if this court is abolished, the other counties Mr. Ferrell endorsed the views of Mr. Richardson, his colleague, and knew that the people, both republican and democratic, desired the abolition of the court. Mr. Norment spoke on the bill, saying that the people of Wake knew their wants, and that he would vote for the abolition of the court. Mr. Amis said he would vote for the bill, as it was the wish of all the representatives The previous question was then called upon the passage of the bill, as amended, on its third reading. Upon this the ayes and nays were demanded, 28. Etate vs Waller, from Catawba. On an indictment for fornication and adultery where it appeared that the defendants lived in the same house, the man being about 23 and the woman 50, that he had been taken by the defendant at ten years of age, being a cripple and an orphan, that there were wo beds in the house and sometimes three, that the witness who went to the house at 4 a. m, on one occasion found the female in one bed and the other bed not tumbled, the man being dressed and engaged in making a fire and it was not shown that there was not another room to the house, it was error to leave the issue to be passed by the jury, the evidence being too slight and the court should instead have directed the jury to acquit.

proper research. Chatham and the Deep River Navigation Company. Correspondence of the News.

PITTSBORO, Feb. 10.

There appeared in your columns of the 1st inst., an article signed "Retrenchment," written from Chatham, whose tenor (though "adroitly" written) seems to me is inconsistent with the best interests of the county and State. The author appears to think that the Legislature has a bill before it to purchase from one Heck, Lobdell & Co., the whole of Deep and Cape Fear Rivers, at what ever price they may ask, and saddle the debt upon the State. In that he does the friends of the bill an injustice, and reflects upon the intelligence of the Legislature. If I understand aright, the object of the Chatham resolutions is for the Legislature. lature to open negotiations with the American Irou & Steel Company, and see if it is not practicable for the State to regain possession of its franchises in the C. F. & D. R. Navigation Company. I believe a satisfactory arrangement can be made; at least I do not think Heck & Co., can "bulldoza" the Legislature, composed of practical, in-telligent men from all parts of the State, into their terms. I am willing to trust the Legislature. "Retrench-ment" begins his article by an attempt to helittle the meeting that paged the to belittle the meeting that passed the resolutions. He states that Mr. Manning opposed the resolutions, when it is well known he warmly advocated them; that Speaker Moring, not having the fear of "Retrenchment" before his eyes, did, with malice aforethought, 'come down on the floor' and advocate the measure. Chatham will ever honor her sons who are ready to protect and advance her interests. The latter half of his article, except the Auster-litzs soldiers, is simply a disquisition upon the "trading qualities" or J. M. Heck, and is not germane to the subject. Whether Lobdell & Co., or Osgood & Co., or anybody else got ex-perience instead of profit by trading with A. or B. is immaterial to the general public. But this move in the in-terest of internal improvement is of great interest to the whole State, and Chatham county in particular, Here is a county in whose bounds nature has implanted an inexhaustible supply of coal and iron, and perhaps copper, gold and other minerals. Here is a large river running diagonally through the State, whose tributaries pen etrate the best portion thereof. It runs through this mineral section, and could the State regain her stolen fran chise, I am informed our Sanators believe a good appropriation could be obtained from the general government. What an impetus a half million dollars expended in this rection would give to returning prosperity! It is not a vain hope, for has not the Government already given $200,000.00 to open the mouth of this very river at Wilmington, and a large sum to open a por-tion of the French Broad in the West? Even now the Yadkin is being surveyed with the same object in view, and will be made navigable to a point within 30 miles of Carbonton in Moore county on Deep River.

But "Retrenchment" says we have already a Railroad from the Gulf to Fayetteville. True, but does he not know that Railroad transportation has ever been the stumbling block to mineral development in North Carolina? And if that Railroad be extended to And if that Railroad be extended to Ore Knob for the purpose of bringing down heavy freight, does he not know that if it breaks bulk at a point in Chatham, it would be of immeuse benefit to the county? That it would be a nucleus for rolling mills, factories etc., for which the river furnishes more than ample water power?

He says he favors lending convict labor to the enterprise. When it becomes the property of the State then she may and will give her convict labor to the says and will give her convict labor to the says and will give her convict labor to the says and the says and the says are the bor, not until. Nor can we expect any aid from Congress while the property remains in the hands of individuals. "Retrenchment" undertakes to bulldoze the Legislature by ridiculing its efforts to lighten the load and lift the burdens from the sore backs of our people, and intimating that its acts will be as infamous as the gallantry of will be as infamous as the gallantry of the soldier of Autherlitzs was famous. We are slow to believe that that body of men, three fifths of whom come from the yeomanry of the land, will ever do anything to bring disgrace upon the name of a Democratic Legisland. on the name of a Democratic Legisla-ture.

WE HEAR no more of the Moffett Bell Punch in our Legislature. In Virginia, it has been tacitly approved, and continues as a part of the machinery of State government. In the Legislature of North Carolina there is abundance of legislation on the subject of prohibition. The laws deal with an enemy impossible to kill; very hard to scotch. Why not turn him to use and make him pay tribute? We think the indifference which has settled upon the subject grew out of some looseness of enforcement in the Virginia laws, thereby leading to the assumption of inefficiency or dishonesty. But even with all the defects, the excess of resource was much in excess of revenue. Was much in excess of that under the former mode of taxation upon liquor, leaving a large nett balance, after paying for the expenses of collection, and supplying the State with registers. #### Special Taxation.

There is no privilege that a town or county claims the right to enjoy and exercise that is so full of dangerous temptation as the one to tax itself for its own internal interests. With the power to do so obtained from the Legislature, it brooks no advice, and heeds no experience. "Shall I not do what I will with mine own" is the curt reply to any warning, or the suggestion of future danger. Yet it is a right above all others that should in these times be used with extreme caution. It is not difficult to obtain the authority to levy a special tax for any county or municipal purpose. And it is not difficult to sell the bonds upon which the means wanted are to be raised. But these bonds, sold almost always below par, remain a standing menace to the safety of the body which issues them; handed about, from hand to hand for a trifle, and ultimately hoarded by some thrifty speculator who watches with keen eye the day of redemption, when they must be taken up at their face value.

The amount of this municipal debt falls upou the tax payer, it is only a question of time when ruin will come, and general bankruptcy engulf every pursuit.

The present time, least of all, should as has been the financial distress, it is ited with her cotton tax. ### Jesse J. Yeates.

Our Washington advices encourage the belief that our friend, Eastern Carolina's friend, North Carolina's friend, the people's friend, the able and popular congressman, the capable and efficient representative, Jesse J. Yeates, will be admitted to his seat in the 46th Congress. Quiet, modest and undemonstrative, he is zealous in his work and rarely fails to accomplish his ends. His genial and affable manners, and honorable character, his bigheartedness have fairly won him the proud distinction among his confreus of "Honest Jesse Yeates." We have observed his bearing in Congress with peculiar gratification, and when the intelligence of his supposed defeat reached the News we deplored it as a State calamity.

By untiring efforts he has already secured for river and harbor improvements in the 1st District about two hundred thousand dollars. At the present session of Congress he has secured additional appropriations for Edenton harbor, the Pamlico and Roanoke rivers, Currituck sound, North river bar. and is exerting his best efforts in the interest of the Dismal Swamp canal. This much by a way of preface to a letter from Washington of Saturday's date:

'His constituents know and appreciate his valuable services in their 'behalf, and whilst he has devoted his 'energies especially for his immediate constituents, his heart is big enough to take in all North Carolina, and no measure that has promised 'anything in her interest has failed to 'receive his warmest support. He ex-'tends a warm and helping-hand to 'every citizen of the State who may be 'called to Washington, and all who 'come within the general influence of 'his whole-souled and generous nature 'are impressed with the noble charac-'teristics which have marked his whole in the work of improving their new 'public career.

'Occupying as he does a prominent 'position on the Banking and Currency 'Committee and the important com-'mittee on Expenditures on Public Buildings, he has exerted no little 'influence in shaping the legislation of 'the country. In the next Congress, with his valuable experience he will be 'able to do still more for his people and 'his State. We are glad to learn that the 'investigation which has so far been 'made makes it quite certain, that he will be admitted to his seat in the 46th 'Congress.

The Direct Land Tax.

It is the uncollected land tax that Commissioner Raum wants of North Carolina. To that end the following resolution has been introduced in the House and referred to the Ways and Means Committee:

Resolved, That the Committee of Ways and Means be directed to inquire and report what legislation, if any, is necessary and expedient to enable the proper officers of the Treasury Department of the Uhited States to collect the amount of the direct tax remaining unpaid and due from the various States and Territories apportioned to them under the act approved August 5th,

By the provisions of an act of Congress entitled "An act to provide increased revenue from imports, to pay interest on the public debt, and for other purposes," approved August 5th, 1861, a United States direct tax of $20,-000,000 per annum, was apportioned, oro rata, to the then existing States, Territories, and District of Columbia.

This tax, according to the original act, was to have been an annual tax, but Congress, by an act approved July 1, 1862, limited the collection to that one tax until April 1, 1865, and by an act approved June 30, 1864, limited it to one year until further legislation.

Most of the Northern States and Territories formally assumed payment of their respective quotas and gave notice of their intention to pay the same. Some of them have liquidated the amounts charged against them in full, some only in part. while others have neglected to pay any part of their

In the Southern States the taxes were collected by boards of direct tax commissioners under the act of June 7, While the tax commissioners appointed under this act were engaged in making assessments and collecting this tax, and had already collected about one-half the total amount apportioned to these States. Congress, by an act approved July 28, 1866, authorized the suspension of further collection until January 1, 1868, and collections were for with suspended by order of the Secretary of the Treas-

The time specified in the act expired but the collections were not resumed; meanwhile most of the commissioners had been relieved from duty.

Again Congress, by an act approved July 25, 1868, provided for the further suspension of the collection of this tax in the Southern States until January 1, 1869, since which no action has been taken by Congress further suspending said collections, nor have collections is appalling; and as the load eventually been resumed in any of these States. ### Northern ettlers.

The convention at Charlotte some weeks since ushered in a new era; the period when Northern men themselves bestirred themselves to turn back the tide of slander, that, so far as they were concerned, had flowed resistlessly over the Sonth. It seemed so natural to a manly nature for the Northern settler in the South to have spontaneously taken up the work of contradiction and justification, that we had long ago looked for it as a thing of course. It was in human nature that those who found themselves in a predicament should make the most of it, and demonstrate to others that things were not so bad as they looked. Much stronger was the incentive when the new situation was so far the reverse of a predicament that thousands were rushing to it to reap the rich harvests | Senator?" of new fields.

It has been in vain, and will be so to the end, for Southern people to justify themselves and refute the slanders which spring up in exhaustless crops. But they have a deep interest that these slanders should cease, and their refutation now comes from a quarter which cannot be gain-said. Northern men, meeting together of their own accord and voluntarily putting forth heir real situation, will make an impression upon the most hardened hater or the most stubborn doubter; and the effect must be a large addition to immigrants from the North. They want homes. We want population; not so much men, as men of brain, energy, purpose and means to improve. The invitations and inducements given and offered by North Carolina are endorsed now by her new citizens. Citizens in every sense of the word; for they come, not as the ravaging carpet bagger to gather up spoil w th greedy or felonious hand and fly with felon haste to a afe retreat; but as bona fide residents, throwing off all allegiance to past attachments, and joining hand and heart homes.

A decidedly new thing in elopements is reported from Trigg County, Kentucky, where a lover and his betrothed fled from the paternal mansion not upon a steed of any breed known to romance, red-roan, berry-brown, coalblack, milk-white or other, nor yet in a Gretna Green postchaise. No; the lovers departed on a saddle ox specially trained by the swain, who had taken a leaf out of the history of the Puritan maiden Priscilla. The stern parent took down his shot-gun and pursued the fugitives, whom on his fiery charger or sure-footed Kentucky mule he soon overhauled, and, though the maiden clung desperately to the horns of the ox as if they had been those of the hymeneal altar, he tore her away and left her hapless lover lamenting.

"My Darling Daisy." Fanny Ward in Washington Chronitels.

The mournful fact has just been developed that Congressional favoritism can bestow no more flowers, cuttings, or plants, either in bouqets, baskets, or pots, from the public rardens. That wretched Committee on Appropriations has enacted (and the stupid House acquiesced) that the general free-andeasy distribution of the past shall be discontinued. Mr. Smith, the plainspoken, blunt Scotch gardener, say that Colonel Casey is responsible for having that miserable provise interjected into the bill. If this be so, Colonel Casey's "case" should be looked after. His smiling gallautry when enacting the masculine Chairman at the White House receptions is all heartless sham then, and, like the little girl who discovered the world was hollow and her doll stuffed with sawdust, we feel like retiring into a convent. Suppose some sinful legislators do squander all their orders surreptitiously upon female "friends," and sedately inform their wives and daughters that there are none left, what has that to do with the question, and why must all the deserving be thus cut short? The average Congressman is not wicked, but generally thinks first of the loved ones who constitute his "home"-whether it be in a brown-stone front, a crowded hotel, or a stuffy boarding-house. No long since the charming wife of one of these savants sweetly requested that a half-dozen carnations, ditto heliotropes and geraniums, in pots, be sent to her abode to beautify the bay-windows of her parlor. She was curtly informed by her liege lord that the plants were 'all gone" and the Government bouquets quite exhausted. She sighed her regrets, but, like a dutiful wife, submitted and thought no more about it. Imagine her surprise, therefore, when a few hours later the Government wagon appeared at her door, bringing a cargo choice potted plants and two magnificent bouquets! A note was handed her, the pots were deposited to her satisfaction and the messenger departed; but, alas, "the course of true love!" When the missive was opened it commenced in this wise: "My darling Daisy," and was not addressed to the wife at all, though signed by the husband! We draw the veil from eyes polite, simply remarking that the obtuse gardener had made the delivery at the wrong place! ["They all do it."]

The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. He also reported from the same committee an amendment to the bill submitted by Ferry from the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads some days ago, providing for the classification of mail matter, and the readjustment of compensation paid to rail roads for transportation of mails. Substantially the same provisions as of last year, which bill failed to become should by all means be rushed through Yeast made by Gaff, Fleischmann & Co., were agreed upon in the post route bill a law on account of the Brazilian mail subsidy and other objectionable amendments thereto. In submitting the report Dorsey said the committee would not oppose the amendment if it should be urged by the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads. Ferry said spirit. the committee had instructed him to submit the amendment and he would urge its passage.

Pay Out Greenbacks.

Louisville Courier Journal. Secretary Sherman favors the issue of four per cent. bonds 'to the amount of $40,000,000 to pay the back pensions. He has a fonduess for increasing the public debt and the buildens of the people. Congress should direct him to pay this money out of the $90,000,000 in legal tenders lying in the treasury vaults. That is the common-sense way of meeting this question.

The Death Rate of Our country is getting to be fearful-

At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late, that a Fever or Lung trouble has already set in. Dread and despair fall upon the community when a terrible epidemic, like the choliers or yellow fever, suddenly desolates our homes: yet, all the while, a more insidious, but no less fatal foe, enters thousands of households every year and carries off the flower of the family in the early flush of manity youth and budding womanhood. People call it presumption, or "decline." It is not, in most cases, the tubercular phthists or consumption of the lungs, which is the preculiar maiady in climates like those of the British Islands and New England, but a general decay or arrest of the vital processes of nutrition.
